

Simon Wong
Director

Simon Wong was appointed to SEDC board in 2008. He has an experienced construction background and is the founder and president of Simon Wong Engineering, a San Diego based structural, bridge and construction management engineering company. He is active in the local professional community including serving as past president of Structural Engineers Association of San Diego and American Council of Engineering Companies of California, San Diego Chapter. He holds a BS and MS degree in Engineering from the University of Nevada, Reno.